? What type of abstract should I submit?

If your abstract is basic science research and you do not want it published in the JACI, it should be submitted to Discovery

If your abstract describes 1-4 individuals in a clinical setting, it should be submitted as a Case Report. Case reports are for first-year Fellows-in-Training, medical students and residents only

All other scientific abstracts should be submitted to the main meeting

? Can I submit an abstract if I'm not an author?

Yes, you can submit an abstract on behalf of others. Make sure you list yourself as a "Submitter Only" in the submission.

? Can I make changes to my abstract after submitting?

Changes can be made to a submitted abstract until the submission deadline.

Absolutely no changes can be made to an abstract after the deadline.

? What if my abstract is accepted but I can't attend?

Another non-industry author may present in your place.

The change must be communicated to cme@aaaai.org and if the abstract was accepted for an oral presentation, the new presenter must complete a disclosure.

? Can I submit more than one abstract?

Each primary author can submit up to three abstracts or case reports.

? When will I find out if my abstract has been accepted?

Notifications will be sent to the primary author in early December of 2025.
