Position available: Board Certified Allergist in SF Bay Area and Board Certified Allergist in New York City

Job Description:
Latitude Food Allergy Clinic is a specialty clinic focusing on the diagnosis, treatment and management of patients with food allergies. We are expanding and seeking world-class allergists to join our team in the San Francisco Bay Area and New York City.

The ideal candidates will have experience in the diagnosis and management of food allergies in all age groups, and will demonstrate a patient-centered approach that is delivered with the highest level of compassion.

Benefits include competitive compensation and equity in our growing company, health/dental, CME allowance, and malpractice insurance.

Requirements:
• M.D. or D.O.
• ABAl certification or eligibility
• California or New York medical licensure or eligibility
• Excellent clinical and communication skills
• Interest delivering high quality, evidence-based food allergy treatment
• Desire to be an integral part of a team dedicated to changing the lives of families through excellent healthcare
• Ability to work full- or part-time in outpatient clinics in the SF Bay Area or in the NYC area
• Ability to occasionally be on-call
